

CLAIM

0001

I claim that, via my invention, I can make available a financial debit-credit card that allows the consumer to make purchases against his personal savings account (debit), and forces the consumer to repay the funds expended prior to a deadline (credit); otherwise finance charges and fees are assessed against the personal savings account.